

Roosevelt Asks 250 Millions for 4 Months Relief

Chief Executive Asks Huge
Fund to Meet Relief Needs
During Next Four and a Half Months.

BANKHEAD WARNS
Speaker Declares Present Funds
Insufficient for Expected Needs.

Washington, Feb. 10 (AP).—President Roosevelt asked Congress today for immediate appropriation of $250,000,000 to meet relief funds during the next four and a half months.

"Funds available at this time," the President wrote Speaker Bankhead, "will not only not take care of the additional burden caused by the recent increase in unemployment, but will require a sharp reduction in the near future of the number on the Works Progress Administration rolls."

WPA officials, anticipating the President's request, said most of the money would be used in industrial centers, especially the automobile manufacturing cities. The money would be in addition to approximately $497,000,000 which WPA now has remaining from its original allotment for this fiscal year.

"The funds available on January 1, 1938," said the President, "would permit employment of an average of only 1,700,000 persons for the six months ending June 30, 1938. The number of persons on Works Progress Administration rolls today is 1,950,000."

Treasury Receipts
Washington, Feb. 10 (AP).—The position of the Treasury on February 8: Receipts, $51,623,834.92; expenditures, $38,089,538.38; balance, $13,534,296.54. Receipts for the month, $58,074,531. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $4,684,452,226.60; expenditures, $4,618,869,836.34, including $1,228,351,787.16 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures, $85,667,614.74; gross debt, $7,552,390,111.16, an increase of $29,645,560.19 above the previous day; gold assets, $12,355,566,470.51, including $1,228,351,787.16 of inactive gold.

Buffalo Crisis Eases
Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 10 (AP).—This city's financial crisis appeared eased today when Mayor Thomas Holling announced an advanced tax payment plan had netted $575,000 in two days. The mayor proposed the plan whereby citizens paid their taxes in advance and were issued "baby bonds" which applied to their accounts when they became due. The plan was devised to meet an expected deficit of $1,000,000 by the end of the fiscal year July 1.

Dine in Moyamensing
Philadelphia, Feb. 10 (AP).—J. Richard (Dick) Davis, reputed heir to the Dutch Schultz lottery racket in New York, remained in Moyamensing prison today and no one seemed to know when he might be transferred to New York. Detectives said Davis and his henchman, George Weinberg, were awaiting extradition to New York to answer lottery charges there, but the necessary papers had not appeared yesterday in Harrisburg.

New Thrust in Spain
Hendaye, France, (At the Spanish Front) Feb. 10 (AP).—The Spanish insurgent army is in strategic position for a new thrust between government Valencia and Catalonia, insurgent military dispatches said today. Insurgents asserted 4,247 bodies of government soldiers were found on the battlefields and that 9,300 prisoners were taken in the recent Teruel fighting.

Will Be Hostess
Boston, Feb. 10 (AP).—The Boston Traveler says that Kathleen Kennedy, next to the eldest daughter of Joseph P. Kennedy, new ambassador to Great Britain, will be her father's hostess at the American embassy in London until Mrs. Kennedy, now on her way to Florida, fully recovers from an appendectomy.

Predict Approval
Albany, N. Y., Feb. 10 (AP).—Legislative leaders, continuing a harmonious policy, predicted today approval next week of a 1938-39 state budget of $336,370,615, an increase of $25,000 over Democratic Governor Lehman's original proposal. This is approximately $14,000,000 less than the current record appropriation.

Farm Bill Before Senate
Washington, Feb. 10 (AP).—The Senate, amid predictions of passage "before nightfall," took up the revised administration farm program today. In so doing, it laid aside for the time being the anti-lunching bill against which southern senators have filibustered since the session started in January.

Rev. McVey Was Installed as Pastor By Presbyterians

With a large delegation from his previous congregation at Freedom Plains testifying to their affectionate regard by making the trip to Kingston last night to witness his installation, and in answer to a unanimous call to his new charge, the Rev. William J. McVey found all the auguries favorable as with due ceremony he was installed Wednesday night as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Elmendorf street and Tromper avenue.

Following the installation service and the pronouncing of the benediction by the Rev. Mr. McVey as he formally accepted the duties of his new charge, members of the congregation and friends repaired to the church hall, where was a pleasant social hour and service of refreshments.

Order of Service.
The following was the order of service:
Prelude—Adagio molto movement from Third Sonata by Guilmant, String Quartette.
Processional—"Ye Servants of God."

Invocation by the Rev. William A. Burner, pastor of the Cornwall Presbyterian Church, and Moderator of the North River Presbytery.

Scripture reading by the Rev. Wilbur P. Stowe, former pastor of the Church of the Comforter, and for two months pulpit supply of the First Presbyterian Church.

Anthem—"I Will Feed My Flock"—Caleb Sempier, Prayer by Mr. Burner.

Sermon by the Rev. Frederick J. Baum, of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Poughkeepsie.

Hymn—"Christ is Made the Sure Foundation."
Constitutional questions of installation to pastor-elect and congregation, by Mr. Burner.

Charge to the pastor by the Rev. John Scott King, stated clerk of North River Presbytery.

Baritone solo—"Cast Thy Burden on the Lord," Raymond DuBois.

Charge to the congregation, by the Rev. Deyello S. Haynes, permanent clerk of the Presbytery and pastor of the Highland Church.

Recessional—"Lead, Us, O Father."
Benediction.
The Rev. William J. McVey Organ Postlude—"Pomp and Circumstance"—Elgar.
Miss Edna Merrihew, organist.
The installation sermon by Dr. Baum was an earnest appeal to pastor and people to work together to make the church a "prevailing church, a power in the community." The speaker took his text from the passage of scripture read which included Peter's answer to Christ's question, "Whom say ye that I am?" when he replied "Thou art the Christ, the son of the living God." On this rock, this confession of a belief in Christ, a church must base its activities if it is to accomplish anything, said Dr. Baum. The powers against the church are greater than human powers, he continued and it is only by relying on this confession that the church can

A Good Sign For Steel and Labor

Volynski Goes to Dannemora For Guilt in Robbery

Pleading guilty to burglary, third degree, under one of five indictments John (Railroad) Volynski, 28, of Delaware avenue was sentenced to a term of from 2 1/2 to 5 years at hard labor in Clinton State Prison at Dannemora Wednesday afternoon by County Judge Frederick G. Traver. Andrew J. Cook appeared for Volynski and stated that the defendant, against whom there were five indictments growing out of various burglaries in the city, wished to change his former plea of not guilty and enter a plea of guilty to the charge named in indictment No. 2471.

Volynski allegedly was the partner of Thomas J. Graney in several burglaries in the city the past fall and early winter. Among the burglaries which kept the police officers on the jump were those at the Cites Service and Reis Brothers gas stations on Broadway and also the Perry grocery store nearby. In all there were five jobs which the police claim were the work of the pair.

Graney was sentenced to a term of from 10 to 15 years at hard labor in Clinton Prison on his plea of guilty to robbery, first degree, for holding up the By-Pass diner with a gun. That job was done alone by Graney. All of the charges against Volynski were for burglaries.

After the Perry store burglary Officers Cramer and Barmann were assigned to the case and they traced the pair to Rhinecliff where they learned they had started north along the railroad tracks. Up near Barrytown on December 17 they arrested the two and the indictments followed.

Three Months in Jail
Ell Corkey of Walden, who had failed to show up on Tuesday afternoon when his case was called and who was arrested on a bench warrant that evening, appeared in court and pleaded guilty to a charge of carrying concealed weapons. A. J. Cook appeared for Corkey and Judge Traver imposed a three-month jail sentence.

Harry Guaraglia of Gardiner was brought into court and changed a former plea of not guilty to one of guilty of unlawful entry. Mr. Cook also appeared for this defendant. The defendant was charged with burglarizing the Ireland Corners Hotel last was a sissy. He wasn't perfect and I think the children loved him most when some doggy misdeed reflected their own lapses from virtue. Undignified moments are recorded in Rod's career when he chased cats off the convent premises and one occasion when he upset the garbage pail of no less a dignitary than the mayor of Kingston. This departure from civic righteousness, if a source of joy to the children, I feel sure was to Rod a matter for penance in his last days. As the body grew weak, the spirit grew strong. Cats crossed his path without causing a flicker of Rod's long, gray eyelashes; garbage pails held out their alluring contents without swerving Rod from his higher resolutions.

But his duty Rod never forgot. On the last day he followed the children as far as the gate as far as an old body could take a willing spirit. He must have remembered many things as he watched them climb the hill that day. Now Rod, the Pied Piper of St. Anne's children, has gone his way and they must go theirs. That's as it should be. But if on the road to School No. 2 you should spy a four-legged gray ghost with a long, wagging tail, you'll know that Rod is still on his beat, with 30 foot-prints behind him.

Atlantic City Beauty Judge Ned Wayburn Here for Bud Contest

Authority on Stars of Stage, Screen and Radio Will Judge
for Jr. League

Ned Wayburn, senior judge at the Atlantic City National Annual Beauty Contest and Talent Quest, "official picker" for 15 years for the late Florence Ziegfeld; one of the best known of dance masters and owner of one of the most noted of dancing schools, has accepted an invitation to be a judge at the Junior League Contest at the Municipal Auditorium on Saturday night, February 26, to select the four most beautiful girls in the county open contest, one of whom may be the queen for the Apple Blossom Festival in May.

That Mr. Wayburn is a busy man in the judging of beauty cannot be denied; his acceptance to Mrs. Robert Rodie, chairman of the judging committee including the following: "At your convenience I would like to know just what points will be judged and if you plan to have other judges besides myself. Some of the duties at our school are to hold daily auditions for stage, screen and radio talent of all kinds. This means singing and dramatic auditions, tryouts for amateurs and professionals, casting for radio players and musical programs, finding, developing and placing both young ladies and young gentlemen, as well as many children and older persons for engagements with film companies as well as Broadway managers. Aside from this we have our fashion modeling courses where we develop attractive and cultured mannequins for modeling of every description, posing for commercial photographers, artists, appearances in style shows and all that sort of thing—so you see, aside from my own theatrical producing activities, authoring work and teaching daily, I do manage to keep constantly busy judging individuals and casting them for all sorts of engagements. So I never get away from judging excepting on Sundays."

Miss Beulah Phelps of Saugerties, one of Mr. Wayburn's instructors, and a member of the local Junior League, was instrumental in persuading Mr. Wayburn to appear here for the judging event. She will accompany him here and possibly, with her dancing partner, Stanley Dinsmore, will present a special dance, "The Apple Blossom Waltz," conceived by Mr. Wayburn for the occasion.

In Theatrical Who's Who.
From "Who's Who in the Theatre" the following information was obtained concerning Mr. Wayburn.

He gained world-wide renown in stardom and helping to create most successful editions of the Ziegfeld Midnight Frolics, and over 600 Broadway and European productions. His ability and genius for teaching and directing has brought fame and happiness to hundreds of today's brilliant stars of stage, screen and radio, and success to over 3,000 teachers, who have taken work under his direction. He was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., educated at Atlanta, Ga., and Chicago, Ill., and was at first an amateur producer. He attended Hart Conway's School of Acting, and really began his career as an usher in the Chicago Grand Opera House.

Success came with hard work and ability and Broadway beckoned. He came to New York city and took his place as one of the great theatrical producers and developers of talent. Among favorites in the musical comedy world

Rondout Project April 1, U.S. Agent Says; Dock Offer

The first step in the project of improving the Rondout creek was taken by the War Department on Wednesday when a representative of the department called at the city hall to see Mayor C. J. Helmsman in regard to obtaining dock front on which to store material needed.

The mayor got in touch with Phelan & Cahill, the well known fuel dealers in the city, and that firm generously offered the use of its dock front on East Strand, near the Rhinebeck ferry, to the government without compensation.

The offer of Phelan & Cahill was accepted. James A. Phelan when questioned in regard to the matter today stated that his firm had taken the action as the firm realized the need of improving Rondout harbor and were always willing to work in cooperation with the mayor in advancing the interests of the city.

It is planned to commence the work of dredging the harbor and rebuilding the dykes at the mouth of the creek on April 1.

C. S. DENES CAPONE KEPT IN STRAIT-JACKET
San Francisco, Feb. 10 (AP).—Out of a welter of conflicting reports today came a flat denial that ex-gangster Al Capone was confined in a strait-jacket in Alcatraz Island's prison hospital.

The only thing definitely known is that the once boastful Chicago gang chief is in a hospital, under observation for insanity, in the prison for America's most hardened criminals.

"Capone is being given the best of attention," said Warden James A. Johnston. "He has shown no signs of violence since entering the hospital and has not been in a strait-jacket."

The San Francisco Examiner today said an "unimpeachable" source had disclosed Capone would be on his way to the federal hospital for delinquents at Springfield, Mo., in a few days. Johnston denied this.

Denies Political Angle
Manila, Feb. 10 (AP).—Paul V. McNutt, U. S. high commissioner to the Philippines, in a final press conference before boarding a clipper plane tomorrow for the United States, denied the trip had any political significance and said he was making it "just to report on Philippine affairs." However, several Manila newspapers prominently mentioned the possibility there might be developments while the commissioner was in the United States in connection with his being a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Plea for Clemency
Norristown, Pa., Feb. 10 (AP).—Wendell Forrest Bowers grasped his final straw of hope today—a plea to the State Pardon Board to escape electrocution for murder. The 20-year-old former reformator inmate listened with a forced smile yesterday while three judges decreed that he must die in Pennsylvania's electric chair for the killing of Mrs. Wilma V. Carpenter, 38-year-old widow, December 13. Bowers' sudden plea of guilt to a charge of first degree murder as the trial opened Monday ruled out any help from a higher court.

Annual Session of Superintendents of Town Highways

The annual meeting of town superintendents of highways with representatives from the State Department of Public Works was held in the assembly room at the county building on John street Wednesday afternoon. There was a good attendance, with a good share of the town superintendents of the county present, along with a number of the town supervisors and county officials.

County Superintendent of Highways James P. Loughran, who presided at the meeting, remarked that this was the 28th meeting of the kind he had held during his term of office. He presented as the first speaker District Engineer James S. Dixby of Poughkeepsie, saying that he appreciated having Mr. Dixby present.

Mr. Dixby said that on his last visit to Kingston he had talked on snow removal, but "didn't hear down very hard on Ulster county, because you always have a good record here." He then proceeded to warn the town superintendents that "Col. Greene and the goblins" if you don't watch out, "explaining that the colored was inclined to take the position that office of town superintendents ought to be abolished in the interest of economy and efficiency. He referred to certain towns which, although they had a total mileage of seven or eight miles—and in one case less than that—had the same set-up as did some of the large towns in Ulster county with their extensive network of roads.

At that, all things considered, the speaker said that he was not certain but that the system was worth preserving as part of a system of government that was based on small units. He said that if these units were abolished and the functions of government centralized you would get a centralized government, but there would be a loss of some characteristics that are worth preserving.

Up to Date
It has happened in other states, said Mr. Dixby, who suggested that in order to avoid that outcome of officials should make every attempt to eliminate just causes for complaint and bring their work as much up to date as possible. He called attention to the fact that the roll-call had showed too large a proportion of the town officials missing at the opening of the meeting. They should have been present to take advantage of the discussions and perhaps get some pointers that would make them more valuable to their towns. They might find, for instance, that they were making unnecessary expenditures for machinery.

Frank Ostrander of the division of audit of the state comptroller's office was next called on. He said that the chief function of the comptroller's office as concerned the town superintendents was to see that proper systems of accounting were installed and carried out and to make periodic examination of the accounts. He emphasized the fact that the town superintendent of highways was the purchasing and disbursing agent for the town in highway matters and should keep an account of his receipts and disbursements if for no other reason than to make sure that he was not exceeding his appropriations. He said that town superintendents could not legally carry over expenditures.

Five Die in Hurricane
San Francisco, Feb. 10 (AP).—A hurricane struck northern California, killed five persons, injured scores of others, and caused property damage estimated today at millions of dollars.

The wind, which at several places along a 300-mile front reached almost tornado force yesterday, came as a shrieking climax to 14 days of storm. It left in its wake broken communication systems, blocked highways and railroads, and a menace of floods from additional rains, predicted for today.

Extending northward from San Luis Obispo, midway between San Francisco and Los Angeles, the hurricane raised up mountainous waves that pounded the coast line. It tore through cities and towns and rampaged inland for 200 miles, causing damage even in inland valleys of the Sierra Nevada.

WILLIAM O'REILLY

O'Reilly's To Be Closed; Where To Purchase Freeman

The O'Reilly stationery stores, central Broadway, and John street, will be closed until next Tuesday morning on account of the death of William O'Reilly.

Freeman readers may procure their papers evenings at Knollers, 562 Broadway; H. Isaac's, 528 Broadway; Joseph Farrell's, 614 Broadway, and at Van's drug store on John street.

New York newspapers handled by O'Reilly's will be for sale at the same stores.

LEGISLATORS STUDIES
MIXED JURY PROBLEM
Albany, N. Y., Feb. 10 (AP).—Stepping into the field of etiquette, New York's legislature sought today to solve the social problem of what to do with a mixed jury that is locked up for the night.

The state's criminal code, drawn before women were given the right to sit on juries, provides that officers in charge of a jury must be sworn to keep the jurors together.

As Assemblyman George B. Parsons, Onondaga Republican, put it, the rule "presents a very difficult problem in a long jury trial when it is necessary to lock up the jury overnight, as it makes no provision for separating women and men in different quarters."

Parsons' solution presented in a bill would simply provide that "men and women be kept in separate quarters with a woman marshal in charge of the women and a man in charge of the men."

Merchant Had Been Lifelong
Resident of City and Associated Closely with Public Enterprises.

HIGHLY ESTEEMED

Business Acumen, Honesty and Integrity Gained for Him Respect of Community.

William O'Reilly, widely known Broadway stationer, died this morning at his home, 58 Pine Grove avenue, after a long illness, aged 67 years. Mr. O'Reilly had been engaged in the stationery and office supply business on Broadway for the past 43 years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Leonard O'Reilly; four sons, Dr. Charles J. O'Reilly, Leonard T. O'Reilly, William J. O'Reilly and Edwin J. O'Reilly, and two sisters, Mrs. Theresa MacDade and Mrs. Lury Bishop, all of Kingston. Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 9:15 o'clock from the late home and in St. Mary's Church at 10 o'clock, where a high Mass of requiem will be offered, with burial in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mr. O'Reilly was born and had been a lifelong resident of Kingston. His business acumen, honesty and integrity gained for him the respect of the community. It was nearly half a century ago that he embarked in the stationery and newspaper business on Broadway. By strict integrity and attention to business he made a success from the start and as the years passed his business continued to grow and expand.

From his beginning in business in a small store he was forced from time to time to enlarge his store space and acquired the adjoining building. In addition to the handling of the daily and Sunday newspapers he carried a complete line of magazine and books as well as stationery supplies. From the handling of the retail trade his business expanded to such an extent that he soon embarked in the wholesale business also. Business at the central Broadway store continued to grow and about 12 years ago Mr. O'Reilly opened the branch store at 58 John street.

Civic Leader
During the past 43 years that Mr. O'Reilly had been engaged in business on central Broadway he became widely known. He found time from his many duties in connection with his growing business to interest himself in the civic growth of the city.

For years he was an active member of the Chamber of Commerce before that organization went out of existence, and later he was one of the organizers of the Central Business Men's Association, serving as its president. Mr. O'Reilly also became deeply interested in the work of the present city administration in trying to locate new industries in the city and served as an active member of the Mayor's Industrial Committee, holding the position of treasurer of that group.

Recently when confined to his home by ill health he resigned as a member of the industrial committee and also as a director of the Rondout National Bank.

There were few men in Kingston who were better known or took a more active interest in the city's welfare than Mr. O'Reilly. During the many years he had been engaged in business on Broadway he had seen many changes in the business and industrial life of the city. For years he had been an advocate of the elimination of the Broadway crossing.

His activities were not confined to the business life of the city for he gave cheerfully and freely to the civic, religious and charitable movements of the community.

Mr. O'Reilly for years was an active member of St. Mary's Church and of the Holy Name Society of the church. Fraternally he was a member of the Fourth Degree Assembly, Knights of Columbus, the Kingston Lodge of Elks and the United Commercial Travelers. He was an honorary member of the Kingston Rotary Club.

In the death of Mr. O'Reilly the city has lost one of its outstanding citizens, a man who was always willing to devote his time and energy to any worthwhile project that had the betterment of the city as its object.

Many Tributes
The following are tributes from leading citizens:

"It was shocked to hear of the death of William O'Reilly," said Mayor C. J. Helmsman when he was at his office at the city hall this morning. "For he was a man of fine character, quiet and unassuming, faithful and loyal and a valued friend. He possessed all of the finer attributes that are needed in the business life of today."

"One characteristic of his was

Japan Would Endorse Treaty

Tokyo, Feb. 10 (AP)—A Japanese naval spokesman indicated today Japan would endorse a world naval agreement limiting the number of warships of world powers.

"If the powers would approach Japan with the idea of quantitative limitation uppermost, it would make a favorable impression," the spokesman said in a discussion of means to end the threat of a world naval building race.

Giving his personal view of Japan's disagreement in principle with the request by the United States, Great Britain and France for Japanese naval building information, the naval informant said:

"It would in effect bind our country with qualitative limitation, and if we refuse, then the powers concerned are going to make it a pretext for expansion on imaginary grounds that we also are expanding."

Traver Signs Awards Order

County Judge Frederick G. Traver at special term of county court Wednesday signed an order confirming the compensation to be awarded the commissioners of appraisal appointed to hear claims arising out of the taking of lands for the construction of the Kingston-West Hurley state highway, Nott 5137. There was no opposition on the part of County Attorney Roscoe V. Elsworth.

Walter H. Gill is awarded $225; Elmer E. Swart $220, and Cornelius H. Hunting $241.

summer when he allegedly tore open a screen and entered the place through a window to take some $75 from a box on the safe. Corporal Mahoney and Officer Metzger of the New York State Trooper Bureau of Criminal Investigation made an investigation and apprehended Guarglia. Previously arraigned he had pleaded not guilty but Wednesday changed that plea to one of guilty to the unlawful entry count in the indictment.

Judge Traver said he was inclined toward leniency in the case and imposed a six months' jail sentence and told the defendant that after this lesson he hoped he would go straight.

The Carlton Krom arson case went over the term on application by Mr. Cook. This was a matter arising last June when Krom of Shokan is alleged to have been involved with the burning of a residence.

Earl L. Finley, of 25 Adams street, Kingston, was represented in court by Chris J. Flanagan when his case was called. Finley was charged with driving a motor car while intoxicated as a second offender. The charge grows out of an arrest last June by Troopers Reilly and Sweeney on the Saugerties road after a car operated by Finley allegedly ran off the road and crashed into a couple of trees and after continuing down the road some distance overturned a wreck. He was injured and treated at the Kingston Hospital.

$200 Fine.

Judge Traver imposed a fine of $200 or one day in jail for each $2 of the fine and also a six months' jail sentence. The jail sentence was suspended until the June term of county court and Finley was also given until June 5 at 2 o'clock to pay the fine. Bail was continued.

District Attorney Clegg B. Murray stated to the court that this concluded the criminal work in which witnesses had been subpoenaed for this week. He told the court that since Monday 21 defendants had been disposed of and several important matters taken care of.

Judge Traver then excused the jurors until next Monday at 2 o'clock, when civil matters will be taken up. He told the jurors that while no actual trial work had been done this week it had been because of the fact that the jurors were present ready to work that several of the defendants had changed pleas and their cases brought to a conclusion.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Double Trouble.
Columbia, S. C.—State Senator Henry R. Sims finally has explained, he hopes, a situation that has been puzzling the legislature.

It was his twin brother, Hugo, not he, who attended a closed session of a finance committee the other day and also addressed a municipal officers' meeting.

Hugo Sims was mistaken for the Senator both times.

Wallflowers Strike.
Moscow, Idaho—Timid Engineers and blushing coeds at the University of Idaho believe they have solved the "wallflower problem."

Led by a freshman, they petitioned school officials for a personality course—and got it.

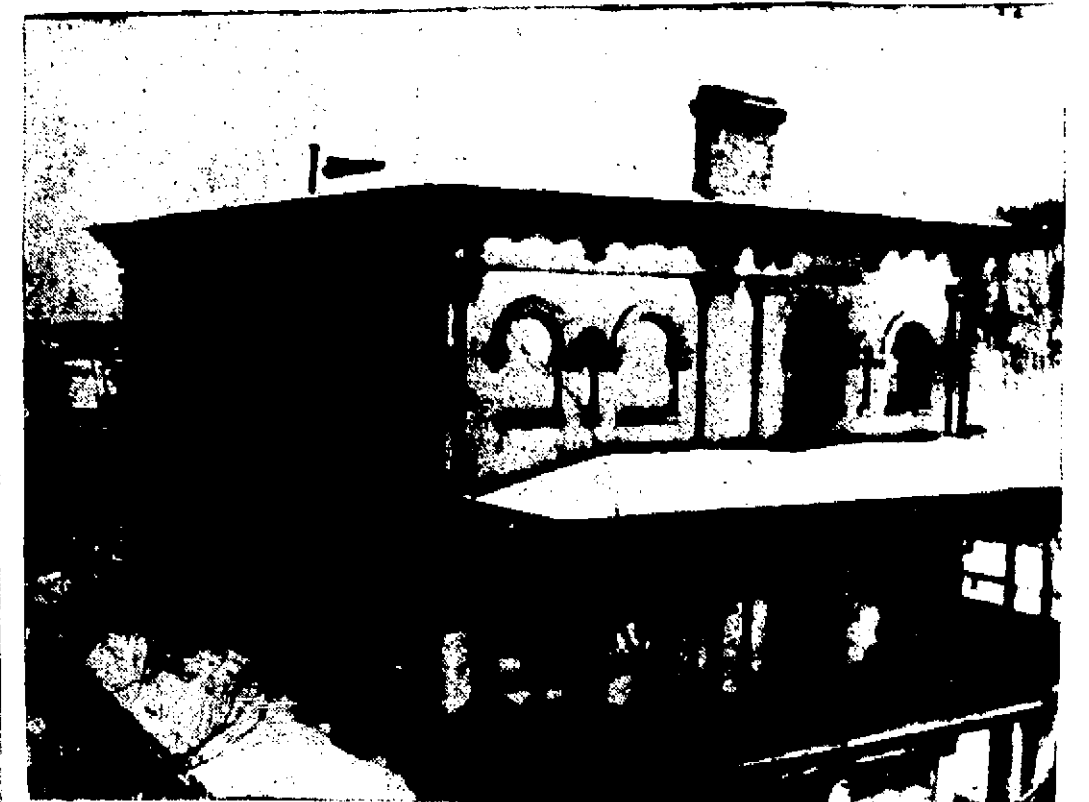

"We don't hope to make every wallflower into a belle of the party," said Dr. Allen E. Lemora, psychologist and chief personality dispenser, "but we do hope to make life happier."

Cops and Robbers.
Baltimore—Twice in a year robbers entered the house in which Captain John Carey, night commander of police, lives, but they took nothing of his.

Then, the captain sent a suit to be pressed. There were dozens of suits in the tailor's parked truck. This time, the thief took only Captain Carey's.

Exempts Dine at Hotel
Saugerties, Feb. 10.—The annual banquet of the Saugerties Exempt Firemen's Association was held in the Phoenix Hotel ball room on Monday with about 70 members and their guests, including the village trustees and officials.

William L. Finger, president of the Exempts and a local fireman for over 50 years, presided at the meeting and welcomed the guests.

There was a minute silence as a tribute to the members of the department who have passed on and a standing tribute paid to President Finger in recognition of his many years as member of the fire department. Music for this affair was furnished by Posties Hill Billy orchestra. Mayor George Kerbert, Supervisor Robert Snyder, Village Trustee Frank Tongue and Chief Sweeney were called upon to address the meeting and their remarks were happily applauded. The banquet consisted of a full course turkey dinner and the committee in charge was highly complimented.

Pupils Present Play.
Saugerties, Feb. 10.—The chapel of the Main street school was in charge of the third grade pupils on Monday morning. The play entitled "Around Our School" was presented. Those taking part were: Jay Wiley, Jean Burhan; pupils, Linford Lewis, Vera McNeil, Florence Megee, Hobart Bach, Lewis Pulcastro, Homer Van Voorhik, Billy MacMillan and Robert Smith. The program was announced by Janet Smith.

New Scout Troop.
Saugerties, Feb. 10.—A second Scout troop has been formed in the Saugerties public school system with Edward Hitchcock, of the Hill street school, as scoutmaster. The troop committee has drawn up regulations that a boy may not be admitted, if his parents or he belongs to a church in which there is a Scout troop. This work the committee feels will omit the interference with troops established in local churches. The school troops also will be glad to release all Scout members to a church that forms a new Scout troop.

Charged With Reckless Driving.
Saugerties, Feb. 10.—Joseph Conboy of Yonkers, while operating a car on the 9-W highway Tuesday about noon, crashed into the property and gas tanks of Charles Houseman on Barclay Heights, near the Sunset Grill, and caused considerable damage. The arrest of Conboy was made by Sergeant Cunningham and Trooper Koefe, who charged the man with reckless driving. The arraignment was made before Police Justice Bennett and a fine of $25 was imposed. Conboy paid the fine and was discharged.

Monday Club Hears Address.
Saugerties, Feb. 10.—Twenty members of the Saugerties Monday Club and their friends held a meeting in the Saugerties Library auditorium on February 7 to hear another interesting address on "Current History" by Frank W. Mason. On February 14 Mrs. Grandt Morse will be the hostess. The next current history discussion will be held on March 14.

Shorthand Class Earn Certificates.
Saugerties, Feb. 10.—The members of the shorthand class of Saugerties High School have been doing their best to earn certificates for writing 60 words a minute, 80 words a minute, 100 words a minute and 120 words a minute and the following have earned certificates for writing 80 words a minute for the month of January: Eva Luhrs, Frances Gleicher, Frances Brough, Barbara Schloerb, Vera Baran and Vivian Hummel. Each month a special meeting is held for the purpose of having these tests dictated by Mrs. Holden.

COL. HEALY TALKS TO DUTCH ARMS BANQUET.
Saugerties, Feb. 10.—The 27th annual banquet of the Dutch Arms Club was held Tuesday evening in the banquet hall of the Saugerties Reformed Church. The address of the evening was delivered by Col. Jim Healey of Albany.

HOSPITAL FINDS NEW ARTHRITIS TREATMENT
Supply of Colloidal Sulphur Reduced Here as Sufferers See New Hope in Scientific Discovery
NO INJECTIONS!

200 rheumatism patients hobbled or were carried into the U. S. Veterans' Hospital, N. Y., treated with colloidal sulphur, then walked out, their rheumatism and arthritis cured and tears of joy in their eyes.

Physicians explain the reason: Colloidal sulphur goes into the blood 1,000 times faster than ordinary sulphur, reaches to every joint and muscle, where it acts like millions of tiny magnets in drawing out pain, arthritis, stiffness.

Proven by the success of this treatment a former U. S. Army Captain, also a rheumatism victim, set laboratory chemists to work to find a way to get colloidal sulphur into every-where faster instead of requiring painful injections. The new tablets, called Q-LON, worked such miracles in his case, that he is now testing them in relief of all Q-LON is a very expensive medicine but considering results experienced, the $4.00 cost for a full 30-day supply is only about 1¢ per dose, and it is sold under strict money-back guarantee, that has included free Q-LON sent here only by:

Stamps IN THE NEWS

By James H. Fletcher

Albania, the little Balkan land where King Zog rules, celebrated the 25th anniversary of its independence November 28, and of course this called for commemorative stamps.

The set of nine stamps, printed in photogravure, uses three symbolic designs involving eagles, a mannequin dressed female figure, and a white horse's head with banner. Each stamp is inscribed "1912-1937."

Denominations: 1-qintar deep violet, 2-q deep brown, 5-q green, 10-q sepia, 15-q rose red, 25-q blue, 50-q gray green, 1-franc violet, 2-fr light brown.

The Turks took Albania piecemeal in the 15th and 16th centuries and held it, despite several revolts, until a general uprising in 1912 forced them to grant the Albanians autonomy.

Independence was proclaimed at Valona by Ismail Kemal Vlorë.

Stormy years followed. Parts of the country were often occupied or invaded by Italian, French, Serb, Montenegrin, Austrian, Bulgarian and Yugoslav soldiers. In 1914, Prince William of Wied, who had been selected by other powers to rule Albania, spent seven months trying to. Then he left, balked by intrigues.

Finally Albania got its government running smoothly and its house in order. In 1922 Ahmed Zogu became premier. Three years later the national assembly proclaimed a republic and Zogu was elected president. He became King Zog in 1928.

Yuletide Stamps
For three years Japan has issued annually a special stamp to pay postage on the millions of New Year's cards which are exchanged there. This year Austria and Manchoukuo followed suit.

The Manchu kingdom adhesive is a 2-fen denomination printed in slate blue with a scarlet character centering the design. This stylized character comes from simpler ideographs denoting joy. Below it appear characters reading "50th year of the reign of Kang Teh."

Austria issued two stamps (12-groschen green and 24-g scarlet). The design places a vase of roses between panels bearing the 1220-dial signs.

Japan's 1938 New Year's stamp (1½-sen rose earmine) shows the shime-nawa decorations of straw rope and white paper which appear at almost every Japanese gate and doorway at New Year's.

The Dutch gave New Netherlands, now New York, to England in 1667 in exchange for Surinam, now Dutch Guiana.

HE SEES WHO BUYS WHAT TOBACCO

Like so many other independent experts, Bill Whitley, Tobacco Auctioneer of Henderson, N. C., smokes Luckies

WILLIAM D. (BILL) WHITLEY sold over 15 million pounds of tobacco last year. It's easy to see that he's an expert who knows tobacco.

So it's important to you when he says... "At 14 different markets in Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky, I've seen Luckies buy the best tobacco. I figure it's good tobacco that makes a good smoke. So my own cigarette is Lucky Strike!"

"I've noticed, too, that independent buyers, not connected with any cigarette manufacturer, smoke Luckies more than any other brand."

Mr. Whitley is correct. For sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts, Luckies have twice as many exclusive smokers as have all other cigarettes put together. Remember: The men who know tobacco best smoke Luckies 2 to 1.

HAVE YOU HEARD "THE CHANT OF THE TOBACCO AUCTIONEER" ON THE RADIO?

When you do, remember that Luckies use the finest tobacco. And also that the "Tasting" process removes certain harsh irritants found in all tobacco. So Luckies are kind to your throat.

Sworn Records Show That...

JAPANESE DISCIPLINE

The commander-in-chief of the Japanese army in central China has ordered his subordinates to stop the cowardly, looting and insolence of Japanese soldiers. Such conduct, he says, has been damaging the prestige of the army—a fact familiar to the outer world, but not previously recognized in Japan. According to the Japanese news agency Domei, this re-buke is "unprecedented in the annals of the Japanese army."

It will be a good thing for the army and for the whole Japanese nation if the order is carried out in good faith. The world has been shocked by the conduct of a military organization which in the past, whatever might be thought of the national policy it served, was regarded as disciplined and honorable. Recently at Nanking and elsewhere the troops have behaved almost as shamelessly as the ancient barbarians who sacked Rome, or the rude medieval crusaders who killed, burned and looted in their progress toward the Holy Land.

This stiffening of military discipline seems to have been inspired mainly by American protests, made not only in defense of American lives and rights but as a matter of civilized decency. It will be well for everybody concerned if it proves to be genuine. Soldiers who run amuck in China might eventually run amuck in Japan.

CITY GOVERNMENT

The city manager form of government, 20 years old this winter, has had more success than is popularly realized. Declining in 1908 with Staunton, Va., it has been adopted by 465 cities and seven counties. Eighteen of them have 100,000 or more population. More than 1,500 cities and 36 counties have adopted some modification of the manager-council plan. Cincinnati is the largest city substituting business methods for political regimes with national party labels. Some manager governments have been more successful than others. Cleveland, for example, tried and then threw out the system. Critics who cite that experience against the idea overlook the fact that Cleveland really accomplished some big things and achieved worth while economies under its manager in spite of the fact that the effort was hampered by an unfriendly council and political interference.

No governmental system, however, can be wholly successful unless it has intelligent, continued, popular support. Two of the American way is to take an interest on election day only and leave matters to officials and professional politicians the rest of the time.

STOCK MARKET "GOATS"

The Securities and Exchange Commission, which regulates stock and commodity exchanges, believes the "small speculator" is nearly always wrong, and has started an inquiry to prove it. This may seem like putting the cart before the horse. The logical procedure would be to start with unbiased minds, seeking facts and letting the conclusions fall where they may. But perhaps the premature conviction doesn't matter. If the investigators will do an honest job of fact-gathering and logical deduction.

The SEC idea is that the little speculators don't rush into the market till it is near the peak of an upward movement, and never start selling out on a downward movement until the prices are near the bottom. Thus they lose both ways, buying high and selling low. The big fellows, and the professionals who win on the whole, year after year, are supposed to understand trends better, shrewdly unloading on the little fellows when the price is high and buying back from them when it gets low again. The assumption sounds reasonable. It will be interesting to see whether the SEC can prove it.

COLLEGE BALLYHOO

The Carnegie Foundation which a few years ago, gave American colleges a good talking to about the evils of the subsidized football team, resumed the scolding the other day. This time it charges that the colleges are competing, disastrously so far as true education is concerned, in other fields to entice students.

Drum majors and tuba players, high school tenors, potential crooners, orators and amateur ventriloquists, are considered highly desirable because they attract attention to the college or university. Campus morale, alumni support, big donors, must be won by numbers, and students must be attracted by publicity. A drop in attendance is considered a weakness, regardless of the educational standards maintained. High pressure salesmanship is used—just to keep enrollment up. The Carnegie report lends additional interest to an address made by President Dods of Princeton. "We have put our trust in diplomas," he said, "and have attached to them unmerited monetary importance. We have created an artificial bull market in education which is endangering the true values of the liberal arts idea."

MEDICAL ART AND SCIENCE

As a youngster there were three outstanding physicians in our city, all of whom were considered outstanding because of the "rough and ready" manner in which they treated the patient and the family of the patient. Their word was law and they didn't bother to answer "fool" questions, but patient and family expected this and were willing to put up with this treatment because these physicians were really well trained and experienced.

This type of physician has not completely disappeared but he is rare because, as Dr. Charles Mayo says, "The physician who does not take his patient into his confidence is simply not up-to-date." In other words, while the "science" or knowledge of medicine is important, the "art" of medicine is equally important. The art of medicine is the way the physician treats the patient himself, whereas the science of medicine is how the physician treats the disease from which the patient is suffering—flu, bronchitis, pneumonia, tuberculosis, typhoid fever, appendicitis or other ailment.

The physician has already learned something of his patient, of his family, of his home life, the nature of his business or employment, and something of his responsibilities and difficulties. With this knowledge of his patient's personality and background he knows just how much to say to the patient and also to the patient's family, in order to estimate how much help or operation he will get from the patient and from the patient's family, whether it is best to treat him at home or in hospital, how much the patient should be told about his condition, about his chances as far as life is concerned, and the condition of business or family affairs.

You can readily understand then that when a physician is said to practice the art and science of medicine he is treating both the personality of the patient and the disease that happens to be present.

Eight Health Booklets

Are you susceptible to colds? Do you worry about your heart? Are you overweight or underweight? Does your food agree with you? Do you have to watch your calories, starches, fats, etc.? Do you believe you have an ailment which medical tests do not reveal? Are you afraid you have high blood pressure? The following booklets by Dr. Barton can be secured by sending Ten Cents for each booklet desired to The Bell Library, 247 West 43rd Street, New York, N. Y. Mention "The Kingston Daily Freeman."

Overweight and Underweight: How Is Your Blood Pressure? Why Worry About Your Heart? Eating Your Way to Health: The Common Cold: Food Allergy: The Neurosis: Scourge (gonorrhea and syphilis).

"Number One" Racket
 Utica, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP)—A. G. Pilger, Batavia dairy farmers' union executive committee man, looks on the milk business as the nation's "number one racket." Speaking before the New York state milk committee, which claims to represent 20,000 dairymen, Pilger urged farmer organization to beat "the big distributors."

The English language improves right along. When you remove a wart now, you call it a "surgical excision" and a cold-sore is a "veterular eruption" accompanying a febrile condition.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

SYNOPSIS. Carrying a gun-carrying for Rajah Mantusen, we encounter a Dyak revolt against the Malays on Sumatran island. Mantusen blames my uncle, James Clyde, and is holding him prisoner until I (Paul Thorne) can bring our fortified ship, the L. Lang, up-river to aid the Malays. Christine Forrester, a young English girl, is behind the war. Her dead father's ambition was freedom for the Dyaks, and she is completing his plan. Just as I realize that rescuing Clyde is almost impossible without Christine's support, he escapes. We must prepare for a Malay attack.

Chapter 21
A Woman's Tears

EVEN if we destroyed the Malays, we would be so badly cut up that the Dyaks, unable to forego a crippled ship, would probably swarm over us as an afterthought. We would be easy for them, then. And there was another bad chance. The Malays might split forces, and some of the praiseworthy Christine's Avon, which they should take readily. The Singapore Malays who manned the Avon would fight well, but there were not enough of them. Worse yet, Mantusen's kinsmen might concentrate upon the Avon. This would be a good idea, and Mantusen was smart enough, to think of it. He would probably think that if he had the Avon he could take the Linkang next, and he might be right, because the Linkang could not leave the Avon and run for it while any of the Avon's people remained alive.

I did not doubt any of this. Like Clyde, I could not understand why we did not already have fighting in the river. It is not like Malays to delay. They love action, and the kinsmen of close fighting; it is the waiting that they hate. One thing might be a factor, though, that Clyde had not counted on. If Christine Forrester was right about the strength of her father's Tanyalang rifleman, that river was not going to be easy to force; perhaps it could not be forced at all. The praiseworthy move fast, but they could not outrun runners on shore. Every rifle of the Tanyalang would fire into the praiseworthy over again. Clyde's own testimony to their marksmanship suggested that very few shots would be wasted at close range.

I kept trying to break in on Clyde. I ought to tell him what Christine had said about the Tanyalang. It was not easy to do, but I got his attention, temporarily, at last. "Look, look here, sir. I think I've found out something that may be important." It was extremely difficult for me to find words. Something which seems fairly reasonable when you hear it in full detail can sound empty and silly when you try to rephrase it in a few quick sentences. "It seems we misjudged," said Anthony Forrester, sir. It seems that he did bring those Avon guns here—it wasn't his son's idea, nor his daughter's, but his own. The Avon was loaded before he died. And more than that. All the time he pretended to be putting around, collecting Dyak beads and the like, he was talking them up into this war. And it seems that he taught a bunch of them to shoot—that's why some of them can shoot out a lamp. The girl claims he organized a string of gun clubs, up-country.

"Gun clubs?" my uncle exploded. "What kind of trash is this?"

Clyde's Disbelief

I DON'T think he would have listened at all if I had not been sewing his back. But as I got around the part about the Tanyalang society and the religious ceremonies that went with them, I found that he was listening. He was lying chest down, but I was studying me over his shoulder, and he listened for some time after I had expected him to cut me off. "Maybe that could be done," he said at last. I saw now that he had perceived reasons for being uncertain. "If it's true—or even any considerable part of it—I was fooled a million miles by old Forrester."

"Do you believe it?" I asked him outright. "No," he said in a puzzled way. "I don't. The whole thing looks like another mare's nest. It sounds to me as if the girl made it up as she went along—maybe because she wants to get something out of us, or more likely, just to impress you."

"But what about the sharpshooters that put out the light?" There may be only one man who can do this. Maybe he is used to be a gun bearer for somebody who taught him—maybe old Forrester, for all I know. But 300 of them—Paul, that's too much!" "But what about the gold horn-bill?" "Well, we knew she was lighting guns. Probably she gets something extra for tying a brass bird on the gun—how should I know? I admit there's a bare possibility that old Forrester had me fooled, and did all this—or did part of it."

How does Christine feel about Clyde? Continued tomorrow.

First Baptist Church

It was 107 years ago, on August 11, 1831, that an ecclesiastical council composed of delegates from Baptist Churches in the Hudson valley from Troy to New York city, met in the Ulster county court house and recognized and constituted a little band of 11 people as "The First Particular Baptist Church in the Village of Kingston."

The Rev. Archibald MacLay, D. D., was the moderator of the council, and the recognition services were held in the First Reformed Church. In the building now used by and known as St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church. The Rev. Aaron Perkins preached the sermon which marked the third church to be organized in the village of Kingston. In the afternoon of the same day the council examined and assisted in the ordination of Mansfield Barlow, a licentiate of the Church of Troy, as the pastor of the new church, and the next day the church met and ordained Reuben Nichols to the office of deacon.

No Organized Church. Baptist services had been held in Kingston at irregular intervals for a number of years, but no church had been organized until this time. The 11 constituent members of the church were Mansfield Barlow, Esther Barlow, Simmons, William T. Hall, Esther Hill, John Newhouse, Reuben Nichols, Anna Nichols, Margaret Pine and Mary Woodworth.

The real leader in the organization was Reuben Nichols and to him could well be given the name of founder. He was the first deacon, an office which he held until his death in 1879 with the exception of three brief periods when he moved from this territory. He was also the first treasurer and the first president of the board of trustees, and his earnest Christian character and his aggressive personality were a great asset to the early church.

Along with Reuben Nichols is also found the name of Daniel L. Wells, who joined the church in November 23, 1832, was one of the first trustees, for 27 years secretary of the board, and at different times clerk and treasurer of the church. It was because of this man that the early records of the church have been preserved.

First Meetings. The first church services were held in the courthouse, in the room now occupied by the Supreme Court Library. The services continued in this place until February 1933 when a frame meeting house was erected near the present School No. 7, which served as a church building for 34 years and a seating capacity of 150 people and though small, proved a heavy financial burden to the congregation, not being cleared of debt until November, 1932.

In 1845 the church had about 144 members and meetings were held in Rondout, Edenville, Glasco, and Saugerties, besides those held in the regular building on Crown street. Branch churches were established in Saugerties, Lackawack, Woodstock, Rosendale and Rondout.

One interesting bit of information concerns the form of baptism. There was no baptistery in the meeting house, so the usual place of baptism was in the Esopus Creek just above the bridge, and the records show that many were baptized in January and February when the ice had to be cut for the purpose.

The Present Church. In 1864 the Rev. Zelotes Grenell, Jr., became pastor of the church and the movement for a new meeting house gathered headway. In 1866 the present site on Albany avenue was acquired and the old building on Crown street was sold to the Village of Kingston for a fire-house. During 1867 while the new church was being built, the courthouse again became the scene of the church services, and it was not until January 23, 1868, that the present building of blue sandstone built in Gothic style, was dedicated. By the year 1881, the indebtedness of the present Albany Avenue Baptist Church was completely paid.

On February 17, 1887, under a new law of the state, the church was re-incorporated as "The First Baptist Church of Kingston, New York," which is its legal and proper name, and from that time down through the years the church has steadily increased, both in the numbers of its congregation and the amount of its holdings.

Today, under the pastorate of the Rev. Arthur S. Cole, the First Baptist Church commands a high position in the city of Kingston, and appropriate services will be held in this church on Sunday, May 8, as its part in the program of the Ulster County Apple Blossom Festival.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—"I'm tired of being a spy.... I'm tired of draft stations and bad food.... I'm tired of sitting in hotel rooms talking to shadows. That's why I'm back on Broadway with a stack of $1000 bills, and I'm laying them on the line. They're mine, too, every nickel.... I've got a six year lease on this place and I couldn't leave if I wanted to, which I don't."

Who's talking? Why, Billy Rose, who else? In all his spectacular career as producer he has never before raised one kopek of his own dough.

In past instances such cities as Cleveland and Fort Worth & named huge, spectacular projects which Rose visualized and brought into being were great risks—but not Rose's risk. He had nothing to lose. That they didn't lose is simply a pretty good certificate of Rose's own value.

BUT he stands to lose this time. Mister, it makes you wince to think how much.

Blindly and with a happy smile Billy waves away your fears. "There has been a lot of blarney about Broadway being dead. All the news boys are fighting it out in their columns now. Into this scene I arrive, leading with my chin, WHYY?"

"Because I believe in Broadway, that's why. I don't think Hollywood will ever own it. I don't think there is any substitute for flesh and blood acting—American style. What is this dead Broadway they are talking about? It's too Frenchy—everything about it is based on the Follies Bergeres, that out-moded can-can stuff. You hear of Europe's invasion of Broadway. What has the European showgirl got? I'll tell you—a mustache and piano legs. Did you ever see a Moulin Rouge chorus that could compare with a Ziegfeld chorus?"

"NO, BROTHER, and you never will. Well, I've got the French Casino, and in it New York has an American show—American girls, American actors—an all-American show. Why, you could bankrupt the halls of Europe and not find a chorus as fresh as sweet, and beautiful as these kids of mine. I'm taking out Hollywood insurance if Lloyd's will sell it to keep the movies from raiding my ranks. That's how pretty they are."

"Well," we ventured, "you've got a mighty big place here."

"Say, let me tell you about that," he explained. "Years ago, when this place was first built, they brought me in to show it to me, and they said, 'Isn't it big, isn't it magnificent, isn't it marvelous? And I said, 'Why bother? That's not my line for fixing it up for me.' And they said, 'What do you mean by that?' And I said, 'I'll end up owning this place, see if I don't.... Boy didn't they laugh.... But I'm asking you, who's laughing now?'"

IT'S ODD But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE AP Science Editor

Philadelphia (AP)—The electric light of the future will change colors at the turn of a switch.

This is one of the tricks of tellurium vapor, now only a laboratory curiosity, described in the Journal of the Franklin Institute. Tellurium is a non-metallic chemical element, one of the 92 primary substances forming earth, sun and other planets.

It's a cousin of sulphur and often is found in small quantities in gold and silver. It is used for coloring glass and porcelain and for some electrical apparatus.

But J. W. Marden, N. C. Beebe and George Melster have developed an electric light by placing a little tellurium in a bulb where it will vaporize when the current is turned on. Tellurium melts at about 1,200 degrees Fahrenheit, so that it is easy to produce the vapor.

Through this vapor an electric current will flow just as through a filament making the vapor glow brilliantly.

The peculiarity is that tellurium vapor changes from blue-white to yellow to bright gold as the heat rises with an increase of electric current.

In Fair- or Stormy-Weather always thought that snow was gold, one look could make me freeze!

and I would rush indoors—and stay—when flakes were in the breeze but yesterday I walked with you through lovely falling snow, your crystals exquisitely formed, and I enjoyed it so!

such large snowflakes I'd never seen. When they caressed my face, I felt refreshed. We laughed and talked, and too soon—reached our place.

I learned white jeweled feathers fall in very perfect weather!

Oh, how I merely learned that all is bliss, when we're together!

It may be a little early for garden notes of this sort but this will keep.

The inquisitive woman was worrying the gardener. She asked a lot of silly questions.

Woman—What steps do you take with the caterpillars?

Gardener (exasperated)—Well, mum, I take a half a dozen steps into the nearest field and turn the caterpillars around three times so that they get giddy and don't know their way back.

Read it or not—Florida's annual temperature averages 70.8 degrees.

It seems too bad this had to happen.

Two fellows were talking.

John—How come you and Anna aren't keeping company any more?

Bill—Well, John, as a matter of fact she was too superstitious.

John—What do you mean too superstitious?

Bill—We have been keeping company for 12 years and now she wants to get married—said it was unlucky.

We should learn not to trouble ourselves over affairs, no matter how important they may seem, about which we can do nothing.

Christian Science Monitor discovered this case of bluff lately: Two negro roustabouts at New Orleans were continually bragging about their ability as long-distance swimmers; so a steamboat man got up a match. The Negro who swam the longer distance was to receive $25.

The Alabama Whale immediately stripped on the dock; but the Human Steamboat said he had some business and would return in a few minutes. The Whale swam the river four times for exercise, and by that time the Human Steamboat returned. He wore a pair of swimming trunks and had a sheet-iron cook stove strapped on his back. Tied around his neck were a dozen packages containing bread, flour, bacon, and other eatables. The Whale gazed at his opponent in amazement.

"Whar yo' vittles?" demanded the Human Steamboat.

"Vittles fo' what?" asked the Alabama Whale.

"Don't yo' ask me fo' nothin' on the way ovah," warned the Human Steamboat. "Mah fust stop is New York an' mah next stop is London."

No matter how great the urge and determination to succeed in this life, fair play to others should be the foundation of that success. We must always consider those about us. No man ever did justice to himself by doing an injustice to others.

First Clerk—When the boss told you that you thought you were a big gun and you talked back what did he do?

Second Clerk—Fired me.

A mansion and fame wide-spread;

But nightfall finds me giving thanks

For just a place to lay my head.

reached the end of their third trial on mail fraud conspiracy charges in connection with operations of a $2,500,000 swindle ring in Reno.

One question remained to be settled: The status of Mrs. Ruth Moore, 22, missing government witness, who was found yesterday registered at a New York hotel as "Mrs. J. Kelly."

HELP 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

To Flush out Acids and Other Poisonous Waste

Don't say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day, or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passage with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An accumulation of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the beginning of raging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Lincoln's Birthday Specials

One of Lincoln's first positions was that of a grocery clerk in a store in New Salem, Illinois. Among the stories told about him is the incident which gave rise to the nickname of "Honest Abe." It relates how Lincoln had waited upon a customer late one evening and upon opening the store the next morning discovered he had used the wrong weight on the scale upon which he had weighed the purchase. He immediately closed the shop and delivered the extra ounces of goods due the customer. Honesty is our policy also, in weight, in price, in quality!

Will Apply For Weeks' Minutes

Application will be made Friday to Justice Francis Bergan at Albany by Thomas Plunkett and Chris J. Flanagan for an inspection of the grand jury minutes in the Floyd Weeks case. This will be the second application made for an inspection. On a former application Justice Bergan granted the application and the inspection was to be held January 4. On that date District Attorney Murray secured a show cause order from Justice Schirck which stayed the inspection. At the time it was stated there would be a motion made to disqualify the indictments.

This motion was made and the indictments dismissed but the grand jury meanwhile brought in new bills against Weeks. It is because of these new indictments that the present application is made. The present indictments are the third set brought in the case.

Weeks is charged with having been responsible for his aged uncle drinking liquor in which poison was found. The act is charged back in 1915. Charges of assault and attempted murder were brought and later the case was re-submitted to the grand jury and new indictments were found. The second bill was dismissed and on January 12, last, a third indictment was returned.

Weeks is now out on bail in the sum of $2,500.

Maybe This Is Why You're Constipated

Perhaps the kind of food you eat doesn't give your bowels anything to work on. Meat, potatoes and bread don't form the kind of soft, bulky mass that will help move your bowels. If so, a dash of crisp, crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast will give you just the kind of "bulk" your intestines need to work properly. And in addition, it contains the intestinal tonic, vitamin B, which helps to tone them. If you want to get at the cause of your trouble, eat some Kellogg's All-Bran every day—as a cereal or baked in muffins. And drink plenty of water. All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

★ "A crisp green salad soaked before it is sent to the table? Never! Why?"

There's a right and a wrong time for adding the best of all salt to your cooking. Crisp green salad leaves, sprinkled with salt and allowed to stand will soon wilt. Put the salt in the dressing and season all ingredients. But green spinach leaves should be salted early... to draw out the juice and speed the cooking

Worcester Salt

★ NOW—LOOK FOR THE WEIGHT

Save money. Make it a habit to look at the "net weight" marked on the package of salt you buy. It will pay you always to insist on the 2 pound (32 ounce) Worcester Ivory Salt package.

Social Hygiene Group Grateful

February 9, 1933
Editor, The Freeman:
We owe a great deal of gratitude to the Kingston Daily Freeman for its generosity in giving us ample publicity in our campaign in the fight against the social diseases.

The committee feels that our Social Hygiene meeting, which was so successful on February 2, could not possibly have been so if it had not been for the wide publicity given by the city and county papers. We want you to know we appreciate the help you give us in this and all of our public health work, however, this campaign is only well begun. We expect to have small meetings throughout the city and county to make this problem better known to our citizens.

It is always a satisfaction to know that we have the backing and cooperation of our city and county editors and newspapers. Sincerely,
KATHERINE M. MURPHY,
Secretary Ulster County Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health.

New Hygiene Booklet Available

The Kingston Y. M. C. A. is co-operating with the National Council of the Y. M. C. A. in its battle against syphilis and is pioneering with the Ulster County Social Hygiene Committee in educating the public as to causes and treatments.

As part of the nation-wide campaign to wipe out syphilis, Y. M. C. A.'s throughout the country are conducting Wasserman tests, lectures, physical health examinations and referrals.
George E. Stock, National Y. M. C. A. executive, reported today in connection with the release from Washington, D. C., of a new United States Public Health Service syllabus on syphilis control to the 1,200 Y. M. C. A.'s in the country.
"The Y. M. C. A. has cooperated in preparing the syllabus, which contains practical methods and suggestions for all youth organizations in helping to prevent the disease," Mr. Stock said. Other organizations cooperating in the preparation of the syllabus are the Public Health Service, American Social Hygiene Association, Young Women's Christian Association, and Young Men's Hebrew Association.

HOLLYWOOD Sights and Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The movie history lesson of the week is "Gold Is Where You Find It." Beautifully photographed in color, this outdoor melodrama covers the fight between hydraulic miners and wheat farmers in the California of 1877. It has vigor and abundant action, a hard-hitting hero of the old school in George Brent, a dyed-in-the-wool villain in Barton MacLane, a fine gentleman who loves his land in Claude Rains, and the scrupulous lords of big business arrayed against the simple, earth-loyal farmers of the valley.

Most of all it has Olivia de Havilland, whose fresh beauty in the color medium will startle you. It has, for a climax, a smashing flood—brought down by our hero for no apparent reason other than to provide a smashing climax. Michael Curtiz directed.

The week, however, was largely musical. "Everybody Sing" presents the goofy doings of a theatrical family in which Daddy Reginald Owen is a playwright, Mama Billie Burke a stage star, Allan Jones and Fanny Brice the servants, and Lynne Carver and Judy Garland the children. Reginald Gardner is the ham actor, Miss Burke's leading man.

Directed by Edwin L. Marin, the piece keeps pace with its possibilities for humor and song, projects 14-year-old Judy more prominently than before, and gives the Brice humor full opportunity. Less pretentious, less beautifully staged than "Rosalia," it's much better entertainment.

In "Happy Landing" Sonja Henie in her little Norwegian village falls in love with Cesar Romero, dance band leader, and doesn't realize the true worth of Romero's manager, Don Ameche, until she has followed them to America.

From this lean plot germ is grown a pleasant flowering of romantic and comic incident, exciting specialties, and beautiful skating ensembles enough to please the most exacting musicalist—or Henie—fan. The net result is, I think, the best of the three Sonja films to date, if you discount the novelty appeal of "One in a Million."

Cesar Romero caricatures a Great Lover amusingly, and Ethel Merman is the "hot and happy" gold-digger. Walter Vernon does, among other things, a "strip tease" to entertain impatient reporters about to walk out on his publicity-hungry boss. The Condos brothers, tappers extraordinary, do a "War Dance for Wooden Indians" to the sultry, scintillating music of Raymond Scott's Quintette.

Most London men are between 25 and 30 when they marry while London women are between 21 and 25.

Broadway: "Man-Proof." Here is a modern story of a woman who is all set to be married when the prospective groom changes the plans abruptly by marrying another woman. From then on the story concerns the jilted woman's problem of adjusting herself to an unfortunate circumstance and to make the best of a bad situation. The film stars Myrna Loy and features such prominent players as Rosalind Russell, Frankfort Tonne and Walter Pidgeon.

Kingsport: "Big Town Girl" and "Missing Witness." A fast moving story of an ordinary young woman trying to get along in a big city with surprising results and a murder mystery both battling and entertaining make up the double feature bill at the Kingsport with Claire Trevor starred in the first attraction and with Dick Purcell featured in the second.

Orpheum: "That Certain Woman." Betty Davis offers another dramatic thunderbolt with her self turning the lightning in this grim story of a woman who is forced to fight for what little she asks from life. The film has a definite problem to present and its answer is real and understandable. Miss Davis is the standout player in this production.

Tomorrow Broadway: "Same." Kingsport: "Same." Orpheum: "Dress for Two" and "Outlaws of the Orient." A romance and a blistering melodrama of the far east, couplings the double features at the downtown theatre with Barbara Stanwyck and Herbert Marshall sharing equal honors in the first attraction and with Jack Holt the star of the second effort. The second picture follows the same pattern of the usual western thriller with the only change being the locale.

Johnston spoke on "Pneumonia Control" in place of Dr. Chant, district health officer, who was unable to be present, in the high school auditorium, to over 50 members of the Parent-Teacher Association and Home Bureau on Monday evening. He spoke on the causes, types and treatment of pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Headlam and son, left for St. Petersburg, Fla., on Monday. The trip is being made for the health of Mr. Headlam.

The Rev. F. R. Bosch will speak on "Today's Crucial Problem" at the morning service of the Reformed Church on Sunday. At four o'clock in the afternoon a "musical" will be given by the members of the choir.

Mrs. Helen Crossley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Crossley, is improving after an operation at St. Luke's Hospital last Thursday.

May Receive Benefit

Workers who become 65 years old and are otherwise eligible do not have to retire from work in order to receive lump-sum benefit payments under the Social Security Act. Retirement from work is one of the requirements for receiving monthly retirement payments, which begin in 1942.

Council Member Talks to DeMolay

An unusually large audience was on hand Monday evening at the DeMolay lodge rooms, 280 Wall street, to greet Frank H. Deal, of Troy, a member of the Grand Council of the Order of DeMolay, who made a special trip to Kingston to be on hand at the public installation of officers of the Colonial Chapter, Order of DeMolay. Mr. Deal's address was directed to both the Order of DeMolay, and to the installing Knights Templars, who are the sponsoring body of Colonial Chapter. He outlined the importance of more fuller cooperation by the Knights.

The gathering was also favored with a fine address on "Youth in the March," by H. L. Sisson, local secretary of the Y.M.C.A.

The entertainment under the splendid direction of the popular master of ceremonies, Francis J. Schilling, Jr., past master councilor, rounded out a very enjoyable evening. Among those who contributed their talents, were Fred Van Deusen, local magician; Barnhardt; songs by the Blue Mountain Ramblers, and music was furnished by the Melody Kings Orchestra. John Whittaker was solely responsible for securing entertainment.

As part of the installation, flowers were presented to the mothers of the newly elected master councilor, Maurice Berger, and the outgoing master councilor, Spencer Ennis, Jr., by "Dad" W. Frank Davis.

ZENA

Zena, Feb. 10.—There will be no services at the Reformed Church on Sunday, February 13.

The newly organized hockey team, "The Zena Red Devils," consisting of boys of grade and high school ages, played its first game on Saturday. It defeated a Stony Hollow team by a score of 8 to 5.

Raymond Eisler and grandmother, Mrs. E. Lang, and Mrs. McAliffe from Staten Island, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Brandly on Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

Miss Blanche Long of Kingston spent Sunday at the home of her parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Everett are the parents of a son, born last week.

Norbert Heerman motored to Albany on Tuesday to lecture at the Institute of History and Art, where an exhibition of his paintings is being held.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

New Paltz, Feb. 10.—The Normal Vandals won over Arlington faculty in a basketball game Wednesday night. The score was 35 to 19.

Miss Kathryn Provencher spent the week-end at her home in Brooklyn.

Sally Finkle entertained relatives on Sunday.

New Paltz Normal School will join with the other Normal Schools of the state in presenting a one-act play festival at Cortland Normal School April 28, 29 and 30. Prof. Arthur Bruce Bennett, head of the English department and faculty adviser to the Dramatic Club, has announced this, which will be an annual affair.

The conference, which will deal with "Dramatics and Education," is the first of its kind to be held among the Normal Schools of the state.

Miss Ann Callahan, graduate of the Normal in January, has been engaged as teacher in the fifth and sixth grades in the school at Montgomery to fill a vacancy caused by resignation of Miss Doris Tucker, who resigned to care for her mother, who is ill.

Miss Callahan will assume her new duties on Monday.

Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence H. Vandenberg and Prof. Emory Jacobs will be dinner guests at the Theta Phi sorority on Thursday evening, February 10.

After the basketball game with Oneonta Normal Friday, in which New Paltz lost by one point, a dance was sponsored in the gymnasium by the Theta Phi and Delta Kappa Fraternity.

TAKE WEIGHT OFF TIRED FEET

LOSE FAT THE EASY WAY—Without Starvation Diets, or Lock-Breaking, Bounding and Rolling Exercises.

If your feet and ankles feel tired and ache all over—because you are carrying too much fat—do something about it. Try the treatment that has helped millions to reduce excess weight. There's a reason why so many people find dieting slow and often times futile in reducing. The reason, doctors say, is often because a little gland is not working right. All the blood in your body goes through this tiny gland sixteen times every day. If it doesn't pour into the blood stream about one and one-half drops of vital fluid every 24 hours, many people take on ugly fat. This fluid helps Nature to "burn up" excess food and fatty tissue in much the same way as a good "draft" acts in a furnace. Now, physicians combat this condition by feeding this gland the substance it lacks—millions of pounds of excess fat has been wiped out in this way. Marmola Prescription Tablets contain the same element prescribed by most doctors in treating their fat patients. So don't waste your time or money striving to reduce with starvation diets or back-breaking exercises. Start the Marmola treatment today that millions have used to get rid of excess fat. The formula is in every box so you know just what you are taking. Don't wait—get a box of Marmola today from your druggist.

The Lovely Attract Lovely Things

Exquisite! But when you admire a lovely, glamorous woman—think a minute.

Deep inside you—inside every last woman of us—is just such loveliness. Strike the right note and this loveliness will break through. Without your lifting a finger it will bring you admiration, safety and romance.

For doesn't like attract like? Isn't it the gay, amusing person who has the gay, amusing time? Isn't it the woman who is happy and harmonious herself who wins a happy, harmonious home?

Don't think for a minute you can't change into such a person. You can—and chance your life, too.

What is a quick release for that inner you? An enthusiasm, an interest in life. Whether it's music, books or just ping-pong, have such an enthusiasm and cultivate it.

The moment you find life entertaining you show it. Your sparkling eyes, your mouth always on the verge of a smile—they say "What fun I'm having!" People look to you to find out why.

How will you act to these people, how make them your friends and admirers? Show you like them. If you don't like people easily, cultivate a taste for them.

MT. TREMPER
Mt. Tremper, Feb. 10.—A number of boy scouts and their friends and parents attended the service at Odd Fellows Hall at Phenicia on Sunday evening.

The Ladies' Sewing Society held an all-day quilting at the hall on Tuesday. A very beautiful luncheon was enjoyed at 1 o'clock. Those present were: Mrs. Kenneth Warren, Mrs. Grace Randall, Mrs. William Hoyt, Mrs. Loren Bailey, Mrs. Bart Winne, Mrs. Norman Wilber, Mrs. Jack Powers, Mrs. Martha Carmen, Mrs. Frank Carle, Miss Lola Riskey, Mrs. George Hansen, Mrs. Fred Langganger, Mrs. Reginald Perry, Mrs. Matt Hasbrouck, Mrs. Leonard Short, and Wittenberg was a welcome visitor. The ladies are always glad to have their friends join them at these meetings.

Mrs. Bertha Satterlee of Pine Hill is visiting at the home of her niece, Mrs. Kenneth Warren. On Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock a supper was served at the church hall for the Boy Scouts and their parents and friends. The Boy Scouts from West Shokan troop were invited guests of the troop here. The tables were nicely decorated and lighted with candles. The West Shokan troop will entertain the Mt. Tremper troop at West Shokan on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Wilber of Willow were callers at N. D. Wilber's on Sunday afternoon.

The Huddler boys, with the aid of their dog, treed and captured a "possum" one day recently.

Quite a number are ill with grip. Mrs. John Zauner and daughter, Carolyn, have been ill. Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Ecker have returned home after a very enjoyable vacation spent in New York city.

The many friends here of Mrs. Winslow Osborne of Endicott, who was recently hurt in an auto accident there, are glad to learn she is gaining. She will have to remain in the hospital for some time yet. The others who were in the same accident have recovered.

Ernest Gardner has been ill with a severe cold.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL
New York, Feb. 10 (AP).—The direction was upward in today's stock market, with rails and copper touching of a buying trek in which virtually all industrial groups joined.

Profit realizing put brakes on the climb after numerous issues had pushed up fractions to 2 points generally and a few as much as 4 or 50. Activity was best on the morning advance. The pace was slow near the final hour, but most leaders were only small amounts under their top marks. Transfers were at the rate of about 700,000 shares.

Carrier loans led the bond division on a quiet forward tilt. Commodities were moderately mixed.

Favored stocks the greater part of the day included Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Anaconda, Kennecott, Howe Sound, Cerro de Pasco, Chrysler, General Motors, Bethlehem Steel, National Steel, J. I. Case, International Harvester, J. C. Penney, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse, U. S. Rubber, Allis-Chalmers, Eastman Kodak, Union Carbide, Canada Dry and Loew's.

American Telephone dropped at one time but eventually righted itself. Most utilities and oils swung in a restricted orbit.

his willingness at any time, no matter how inconvenienced he might be, to aid in any civic activity that would advance the interests of Kingston. Mr. O'Reilly will be missed in the central section of the city where he had been engaged for so many years in business as was Vincent Gorman in the uptown section. Kingston has lost a valued citizen in Mr. O'Reilly's death.

"I personally will miss Mr. O'Reilly not only from a business standpoint but also from a civic, for he was a public spirited citizen who was always willing to work for the best interests of Kingston," said William C. Kingman of the Canfield Supply Company.

Former Mayor E. J. Dempsey said "I have always admired Mr. O'Reilly not only for his personal qualities but for his interest in city affairs."

Former Mayor Harry B. Walker, who with Mr. O'Reilly, was one of the founders of the Central Business Association, said that in the death of Mr. O'Reilly he had lost a great friend. "He was a man who was interested not only in the central section of the city, but the entire city," said Mr. Walker, "and I feel that in his death the city has lost a man whose place will be hard to fill."

"In the passing of William O'Reilly, Kingston has lost an outstanding citizen," said Kiwanis president, Paul Zucca. "I am sure all the members of the Kiwanis Club join me in expressing our deep regret to his family in this sad hour. He will be greatly missed by the business, fraternal and service organizations of the city."

Dr. Charles B. Carter, past president of Kingston Rotary Club, said "It was with deep regret that I learned of Mr. O'Reilly's death. His interest and desire to make Kingston a finer community will be greatly missed. He was an understanding citizen and fine Rotarian, who truly lived a life of real service."

Annual Session of Superintendents

penditures from one year into another and that he was legally personally responsible for such excess expenditures. In answer to a question he said that in respect to such practice, there would generally be some small bills that would not be presented in time for audit in the year they were contracted and as a rule there was no complaint if such bills, representing small items, were carried over and paid. It should not be made a general practice, however, and certainly not where the amounts were of any size.

One questioner asked what should be done in a case where a garage man discovered that his gas pump was "overpumping" and had billed the town for the excess. Mr. Ostrander agreed with Mr. Loughran that in such a case it might be well to have the county scaler of weights and measures check up on the pump and if it were proved that the town owed for more gas than it had paid, the bill probably ought to be paid.

Mr. Bixby suggested that, on the other hand, he had never heard of gasoline concerns declaring a dividend to purchasers who had been victims of "under-pumping."

Use of Explosives.
Augustus Woerner, of the division of mines, tunnels, quarries and explosives of the department of labor, was introduced, and discussed the proper use of explosives. He said that the law provided that explosives should be kept in separate and properly constructed magazines, which should be licensed. The latter point, he said, was important.

Caps used in connection with explosives were, he said, "the meanest thing in the world." Particular care should be taken with them, especially to keep them out of the way of children. He told of one case in which 75 of the dangerous caps were found in the possession of children and three of the caps showed signs of having been bitten into. There had also been a number of injuries.

Explosives and caps must be transported in separate vehicles and no tools nor passengers should be transported in vehicles carrying explosives. Highway men were warned not to use fuses in setting off explosives along the highway, but to use a mechanical blasting battery.

Mr. Woerner closed with some discussion of silicosis, the disease to which those working rock drills are subject and which is caused by microscopic quantities of silica getting into the lungs. The state has been making an investigation of silicosis and in 1937 a law was passed providing that dust caused by rock work must be removed either by suction or wetting. Mr. Loughran said that Ulster County has one claim against it on this ground, the case being a man who had been engaged in rock work all his life and who for six or seven years had worked for the county. He added that Ulster county rock contained a high percentage of silica.

Mr. Woerner was asked, what about stone crushers? He replied that that was a situation which had not yet been settled, but said that without question the ordinary "open type" of stone crusher was on the way out. K. G. Rauer, of the Poughkeepsie office of the highway department was the last speaker of the day. He spoke of the question of mileage in the towns, which is important since state aid is based on mileage. Mr. Rauer said that a survey made by the state several years ago showed a marked discrepancy between what the engineers making the survey found and the mileage reported by some of the towns. In some cases, he said, there was a difference of 100 per cent in the two sets of figures. In Ulster county, he said, the total mileage is more than the total reported by the towns.

A difference of opinion as to what constitutes town mileage might account for the difference in some cases, the speaker said. For instance, lane or road serving one property, or even two or three, might or might not be listed as a highway in order to avoid any question the advice was given to have such roads accepted for maintenance by the town board.

A discussion of the use of calcium chloride brought out the statement that if used clear, on concrete, it would destroy the road surface and ultimately injure the road seriously. Superintendent Loughran said that he was favoring the use of salt rather than the calcium chloride and also brought up the point that the latter might be having a serious effect where used continuously on bridge roadways, not only on the paving but also on the structural work.

The meeting closed with an interesting showing of moving pictures featuring various types of road machinery.

Colonials Take Early Lead Scoring Upset in Wednesday's Contest

SECOND WIN

Carlie Husta and Phil Rabin Keep Colonials in Front From Start to Finish to Make it Two Straight.

The Colonials made it two straight over the Brooklyn Vissies, Wednesday night, at the Municipal Auditorium, drubbing the big Blue team in every period to take the decision by 12 points, 39-27.

Carlie Husta, old standby of the Morgenweck crew, started Kingston off with a shower of baskets in the first period and continued to collect nine until he left in the second frame. Van Hook, the new Philadelphia youngster, replacing him.

Van Hook displayed good ball handling and a keen eye on close shots, contributing a layup and basket in the last half.

Phil Rabin, although not in the best shooting form, contributed 10 points to Kingston's total, while Alie Esposito and Frankel hit the best shooting for the Vissies.

As the box score shows, the Colonials had little cause to worry, the only real threat being made by the Brooklynites in the third period, but even this was quelled in a jiffy as Kingston tightened on its defense to offset long range shooting attempts by the visitors. Frankel's one long heave from the middle of the court was the only long arc to hit the mark.

Last Sunday the two clubs battled in a closely fought contest at the New York Hippodrome, Kingston winning by two points, 29-27. But, the Vissies failed to get going at the auditorium, experiencing one of those "off nights."

By winning, Kingston strengthened its league standing which shows three victories and four defeats.

Thy Hearn's severe cold kept him out of the lineup, Moe Dunbar taking his place at center.

Saturday night Kingston plays at Philadelphia and next Wednesday takes on the New York Jets at the municipal auditorium.

Myril Hoag Joins Yankee Holdouts

San Francisco, Feb. 10 (AP)—

New York Yankee officials, engaged in financial wrestling bouts with some of their super-stars, will be pleased to learn they have another dissatisfied player who should be described as "a club owner's holdout."

Myril Hoag, regular left fielder, had the best season of his career last year and was "rewarded" with a contract calling for the same pay as in 1937.

Joe DiMaggio asked for an increase of 16 2/3 per cent and threatens to stay home and wash dishes unless favored with a 100 per cent boost. Lou Gehrig is putting for a mere 15 per cent "up."

Hoag, who outplayed DiMaggio in practically all departments in the World Series and was the third leading hitter on both sides, is going to carry his troubles to spring training headquarters in Florida. Then he'll try to convince his bosses that his work last season deserves better recognition.

Hoag's salary is a matter of conjecture but guesses believed to be fairly accurate place it around $10,000. DiMaggio got $15,000.

Clermonts Edged By Millbrook Five

The Millbrook Millionaires decided the Fuller Clermonts in the preliminary at the municipal auditorium, Wednesday, 42-39.

Buck Gros, Dutchess county star, showed the way with 13 points and spurred his teammates into a rally that gave them the game in the last four minutes of play.

Previous to this the Clermonts had showed the way in scoring.

Monticello High Here on Friday

Seeking its fifth straight win, Coach Kias' Kingston High School basketball varsity stacks up against Monticello Friday night at the municipal auditorium. The game is slated for 8 o'clock, with Dick Whiston's Jayvees taking over the 7 o'clock bell in a game with another junior outfit.

When the Monties played hosts to the Maroon hoopers last month the Klasmen, through the sharpshooting of Charlie Bock, Tommy Malnes and Sloat Rowland rolled on to a 48 to 21 triumph.

Bobsledders in Race on Sunday

Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 10 (AP)—

A corps of the nation's ace bobsledders tuned up their sleds today for the National Senior A. A. U. championships on Mt. Van Hoevenberg's tricky Olympic slide, Saturday and Sunday.

Foremost among the entries for the four-man crown was Aubrey (Bucky) Wells, the Keene Valley, N. Y., gas shovel operator, and defending champion.

Bard To Aid Fund With Road Troupe

Annandale-on-Hudson, N. Y., Feb. 10 (AP)—The drama is coming to the rescue of 80-year-old Bard College, threatened with closing next June 30 unless $30,000 can be raised.

Acting Dean Harold Mestre said the college's experimental theatre, with the aid of girls from Vassar College, would take to the road with a revival of "Androcles and the Lion", presented here last fall. The play will be given in Kingston, Poughkeepsie and at least one other city.

Dean Mestre said more than $4,000 had been contributed to a campaign for funds, launched by students and faculty.

Schrader's Faith in Americans

Federal Art Project Photos

Woodstock, Feb. 5.—Gustave Schrader is a comparative newcomer among Woodstock artists. Consequently the progress of his work is being followed with great interest.

Most of his life, by economic necessity, has been a practical one, with scarcely time or inspiration for any creative pursuit. Only in recent years, and particularly since his work on the Federal Art Project, has he been able to carry out his determination some day to devote more time to painting.

"I hadn't had much encouragement before the project enabled me to concentrate on painting," he says, "in fact, my life and environment didn't encourage even thinking much about painting."

His sister, Ruth, is a talented dancer, and one of his brothers, Mauno, an artist, but Gustave, out on his own from the time he left high school was occupied with business of earning a living, at taxi driving, house-painting, conducting a fruit stand, anything that came his way.

In a very short time he has made rapid progress in the development of his work, which is markedly individual, unstamped by the influence of any actual or subconscious teachings. His only study has been at the Woodstock School of Painting, with Judson Smith. This study has given him confidence in the use of his medium, oils, but, as is the policy of the school, it has not altered his own attitudes and approach to his painting.

All-American Attitude
A firm believer in American painting and painters he has little use for what he considers the "blind and abject" worship of American painters and their public give to modern European art. "Haven't they any faith in their own talent?" he wonders, "that they must imitate the work of others?" He believes that "There will never be any future to American art, if its artists continue to turn to Europe for their inspiration."

He was born in Elmhurst, L. I., and has spent most of his life there, in Miami, Fla., and in Woodstock. He first came to Woodstock when he was 14 and his family spent their summers here. He has lived, for the last few years, with his wife, and twelve-year-old son by a former wife, in the "Doll-House" cottage owned by Arthur Wolven. This cottage, an attractive white studio, green trimmed and picket fenced, has been the home of several other Woodstock artists, Pamela Brown, St. Julian Ravanet and the R. W. Wolceskes. Mr. Schrader has several times been inspired to make pictures of this house. His first painting on the Federal Art Project, now in the U. S. government's permanent collection in Washington, was "Doll-House Cottage." He is working now on a larger and more ambitious canvas of the same motif.

Houses Favorite Subject
Houses are his favorite subject, and in nearly all his landscapes groupings of houses figure importantly in the scene. Of his work, "Old Homestead" is his favorite. Illustrated here, it is one of his grandfather's houses on Long Island, where now a subway station stands. "Old Barn," another of his paintings of buildings, has been exhibited in the Corcoran Gallery in Washington and is one of his best pictures. He also has done a fine water color of this same scene, familiar to any who have been over the Ohayo mountain road in Woodstock.

A variation from his customary landscapes is a series of four industrial panels done for the Federal Art Project. These decorative paintings are done in two dimensions, without the use of perspective. Of these the best is "Raising H2O," a pictorial representation of antique and modern pumping systems. The others in the series are on house building, quarrying and well drilling. A knowledge of his subjects and his love of mechanical accuracy, as well as the decorative quality of the series have made these paintings doubly interesting.

Work in Portraiture
He has done a number of portraits and nudes. While studying in the Woodstock School of Painting he specialized in portrait and life study. One of his paintings, "Mary Ann," is now on tour with the Sawkill traveling exhibitions.

He has exhibited for the last few summers in the gallery of the Woodstock Artists Association, and the Sawkill Gallery. With the Sawkill his work has been exhibited in many large cities throughout the country, including Montclair, Los Angeles, Denver, Albany, St. Louis, Seattle and San Francisco.

His project work has been in two Federal Art Project shows in Woodstock. In a regional project shown in New York he was one of 11 Woodstock artists represented in a total of 28 paintings from New Jersey and New York (with the exception of New York city). He also exhibited in a Federal Art Project in White Plains in 1936. He is now represented in the current exhibition at the Ohayo La Tour Galleries in New York city.

Rev. McVey Was Installed as Pastor

meet the opposition it encounters. Dr. Baum discussed the perplexing problems that confront the world today and the apparent lack of a leader strong and wise enough to point the way to the right path. The church has not escaped the dangers that threaten disruption, he said, the changes that are apparent on every hand, the fall of popular governments. Underneath all these troubles, as he saw it, is the need for the active principle of godliness.

There is a call for a church "with a ringing witness to the power of the Son of God today," said Dr. Baum, "the church must begin to exhibit the type of life and devotion that gave it strength in the middle ages, or it will totter and fall, as did the empires of the past."

The speaker said that it gave him peculiar pleasure to be present on the occasion of his friend, adding, "I believe you have chosen the right man; you have made no mistake."

The Rev. John Scott King, who has been stated clerk of the Presbytery for 45 years, delivered the charge to the pastor and displayed originality and wit, as well as appreciation of the essentials of a prevailing ministry that explained to his hearers why he has been retained as the beloved and respected pastor of the church at Little Britain for 47 years.

Mr. King, referring to the Scripture statement that Christ "spoke of one having authority," spoke of the need of an authoritative voice today. "Now is the time for preaching the word," said the speaker; "truth is wanted today—and truth must come from the pulpit."

The preacher must have the authority that comes from a sound body, from good health, said Mr. King, saying that "Jesus was never shown as being sick, healthy went out from him." Then, he continued, the preacher must have the authority that comes from living what he preached—he should ask none to do anything he would not do himself. Again, he must have the authority that comes from conviction, said Mr. King, and there was a general laugh when he said, half-humorously, to the pastor-elect, "I warn you, Brother McVey, if you are not sure of things, keep your mouth shut."

In conclusion the speaker advised the new pastor to those things that "are learned by prayer, that belong to the heavenly state." He said that these are the things that people are craving today—they seek someone having authority.

The Rev. Devello S. Haynes of Highland, who gave the charge to the congregation, laid emphasis on the fact that "Christianity is essentially a lay religion." He advised the congregation not to take the attitude that they had called a man to "run their church," but should feel that both pastor and people were co-workers in the vineyard of Christ. The speaker said that he doubted the "special sanctity" of those who were set aside for pastors, but felt that all were called upon to carry on the work and to be examples, in the spirit of Paul's statement to the Corinthians, "Ye are the body of Christ."

Mr. Haynes prophesied that happy days were ahead of the people of the First Presbyterian Church and that they had a right to look forward to a new era of work in the church that should result in great benefit both to themselves and to the community.
